

Using the advanced search option in World Discovery

What is World Cat Discovery?

AUIB Library uses WorldCat Discovery which allows the AUIB community to access all library resources --- including the Library Catalog, subscribed databases and selected open access collections --- both on and off campus with a login.

How do I find resources on WorldCat Discovery?

Advanced Search

- Go to AUIB Library main page:
- <https://library.auib.edu.iq/>
- Select Advanced Search
- <https://auib.on.worldcat.org/advancedsearch>

The Advanced Search option allows searching in more than one field. For instance, you may search for a specific book or article written by a particular author or published in a precise year. There you can combine your search into more than one field. You can limit your search by format of materials and publication date... etc. In addition, you deselect or exclude databases from the results of your search.

Using Boolean Operators in advanced searching

Select Boolean operators for combining search terms in two fields or more to narrow or broaden search result:

AND: Finds the search terms in the specified fields in the same document.

OR: Finds any or all the search terms in the selected fields in the same document.

NOT: Excludes document which has any of the search terms appearing after NOT from the search result.